

RED HAIR LANDS TWO IN CELL ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Woman Chloroformed, Beaten and Robbed in Her Home at Bayonne.

James Carr, of No. 23 Brown place, and James Coyle, of No. 129 Garfield avenue, Jersey City, were arraigned in the Bayonne Police Court today charged with having robbed, beaten and chloroformed Mrs. Mildred Cody, of No. 34 Trask avenue, Bayonne, yesterday afternoon.

Both denied their guilt, but were identified by Mrs. Cody and several neighbors who saw them about her house. They were arrested in Elizabethport last night.

Mrs. Cody is the wife of Maurice T. Cody, editor of the Paper Trade Journal, No. 115 Nassau street, this city. She is a large, athletic woman, and on her return from a shopping trip in New York came upon two men in her house. One, a red-headed chap, had his arms full of Mr. Cody's clothes.

"What are you doing here?" demanded Mrs. Cody. The man dropped the clothes and grappled with Mrs. Cody. She was giving a good account of herself when the other thief seized her by the throat. Mrs. Cody tore the faces of the men with her fingers, and fought until the red-headed man thrust a handkerchief in her face and chloroformed her. Gradually the woman became weak and collapsed. The men then fell upon her and kicked her many times about the face, head, neck and body.

Two hours later A. B. Manning called at the Cody home and found Mrs. Cody unconscious on the parlor floor. He summoned help and sent for Dr. Albert Daly, who after much difficulty revived Mrs. Cody.

For some time Mrs. Cody could not tell of her experience, so weak and terrified was she. The thieves had torn her wedding ring from her finger and had taken other articles of value from the house. A general alarm was sent to all the neighboring towns in New Jersey for the two men. One of the men was accurately described by his red hair. Neighbors said they saw the pair walk slowly from the house. Half a block away they halted and lit cigars. Then one of them kissed his hand coyly in the direction of the Cody home.

Carr and Coyle were hanging about the Elizabethport station when the red head of one attracted the attention of the police, and the arrests followed.

FOREMAN, SHAKEN OFF CAR, KILLED IN TUNNEL.

Marmion Falls Directly Under the Wheels While Riding to Work on the Central.

Frank Marmion, foreman of a gang of electricians installing wires in the Park avenue tunnel of the New York Central Railroad, was crushed to death while riding on a flatcar in the tunnel near Fifty-ninth street at 4:40 A. M. today.

Marmion, who was twenty-nine years old, and lived at No. 45 East One Hundred and Sixty-second street, was with a score of others on the car when the locomotive made a sudden halt and start, and he was shaken off, falling directly in front of the wheels, which passed over his body.
